To celebrate and promote the release of The Best-Selling Wild Diet book, Able James wanted to create a top-of-the-line recipe app that featured recipes from the book along with supplementary material and an easy way to opt-in to his subscription newsletter.

Important considerations in the app included: high resolution images on all devices, fast performance, and most importantly the ability to present correct recipes from serving 1 person to a family of 12 and every amount of servings in between. This automated serving size technology was a critical and surprisingly complicated part of the project that Dedicated Developers helped to successfully complete.
Jonathan Bailor had the inspiration to start SANESolution as he was a top-level project manager at Microsoft working on Word, and the initial launch of the xBox. After authoring a New York Times Bestseller 'The Calorie Myth' while at Microsoft he left to build the tech based, 21st century version of WeightWatcher to tackle the obesity and diabesity epidemics. Currently the business offers hybrid phone/online coaching via an app and custom built online portal.
ABOUT

Paddle Partner is the GO-TO app for canoe and kayak lovers who paddle down their favorite river trails. The app provides real time navigation statistics both online and OFFLINE.

Whatever challenges you’re facing in the development and delivery of your web and mobile projects, don’t worry, you’re not alone. Our experience has shown that companies both large and small, from all different kinds of industries, are facing tremendous challenges, too. They’re struggling to complete web projects on time, on budget and to the high standards required.
