Times-2 is manufactured by Aurora Storage Products, Inc., a member of the US Green Building Council. Times-2 cabinets contain high levels of recycled and recyclable material. Steel used in the manufacturing of Aurora Times-2 cabinets contain 40% recycled content from post-consumer and post-industrial sources. Times-2 packaging employs bulk pack techniques to minimize the use of corrugated and wood supports. All corrugated materials includes 20% recycled content. Corrugated and wood supports used for shipping are recycled and can be removed from job sites to a recycling facility.

The recycled content of Aurora Times-2 cabinets and eco-friendly finish can potentially contribute three LEED® points for building projects trying to achieve LEED status. Aurora Times-2 Cabinets are inherently space efficient and when used in larger storage systems might earn additional LEED points by reducing building footprint.

Aurora Times-2 Cabinet’s metal surfaces are covered with a polyester powder coat, Gloss-Tek that is heated and fused on the material’s surface. Since the powder is inert and not carried and not carried in a volatile solvent, harmful vapors are not released into the atmosphere. The powder coat is 100% non-emissive, contains no formaldehyde, methanol, or other solvents – completely friendly to artifacts, specimens and documents. All powder that does not adhere to the Times-2 upon application is recycled and used again. No volatile organic byproducts are released when baking and no hazardous waste is generated in manufacturing, application, or clean-up. Maintenance for Aurora Times-2 cabinets requires no harmful chemicals—for most cleaning, a damp cloth suffices.

Aurora environmental practices are integrated into all aspects of manufacturing. Over a decade ago, the company was one of the first manufacturers in the storage and filing industry to convert to a non-emissive coating process. There are no ozone-depleting substances used in the manufacture of our products. A closed loop cooling water system recirculates and conserves water resources. Our operation does not contaminate storm water or release contaminants into the ground water. When new products are proposed, the environmental effects of new machinery are first considered to ensure they are in keeping with our commitment to the environment.
