<td>The Success Triangle - This session explores the concept that multiple elements are the key to being well rounded and successful in today's workplace. The competencies explored in this model are: Building Relationships, Expertise and Navigating the Organization. Participants receive a 360/multi-rater assessment designed to identify developmental strengths and needs. Each “Success Triangle” set includes nine surveys. One survey is completed by the ratee, one is completed by his or her immediate supervisor, and the remaining seven surveys are completed by a combination of the ratee’s superiors, peers and direct reports. TTC will administer the assessment, track and collect the results for processing, and provide one-on-one confidential feedback sessions. Detailed course descriptions are found on the following pages. DETAILED COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

ESTABLISHING A MENTORING PROGRAM: STRATEGIC AND ACTION PLANNING

INTRODUCTION

Many of the most successful public and private organizations are those that have come to the realization that investing in their own people will reap the biggest returns. Scores of organizations worldwide have implemented innovative and dynamic mentoring programs. These professional partnerships have not only proved to boost morale within the organization, but have also increased productivity and efficiency. The purpose of this program is to provide mentoring Program Coordinators with a detailed roadmap for implementing their own formal mentoring program. Mentoring practitioners will explore, in depth, the principles and processes for planning, designing and executing a successful mentoring program in their organizations.

BENEFITS

▪ Creates a supportive environment to transfer knowledge from one individual to another.
▪ Enhances the culture of continuous learning and growth where people can live and work to their full potential.
▪ Offers mentors the personal satisfaction of “giving back” to the organization and passing along their legacy.

PRE-COURSE WORK

Each participant will receive a TTI Success Insights® assessment to be completed online 10 days prior to the Dynamic Mentoring Connections workshop.

OBJECTIVES

BUILDING STRONG MENTORING PROGRAMS AND RELATIONSHIPS

▪ Explore the difference between informal and formal mentoring.
▪ Learn how to identify, select, and match mentoring program participants.
▪ Explore mentoring evaluation criteria and how to keep the mentoring program and participants on track.
▪ Discuss the use of Mentoring Action Plans (MAP) and Mentoring Agreements.

SUPPORTING THE MENTORING PROCESS

▪ Build organizational support at all levels.
▪ Clarify the supervisor’s role in an informal mentoring process.
▪ Learn how to honor the integrity of the mentoring program.
▪ Explore tips and techniques for maintaining accountability and sustaining momentum.

MATERIALS

Participants will receive a book entitled Keys to Mentoring Success and a personalized report generated from the TTI Success Insights® software. In addition, a facilitated Mentoring Plan will be produced, detailing the step-by-step sequence of events necessary to implement the program. The plan will address time commitment, roles, responsibilities, expectations and program features. The mentoring plan will also include a time line for implementation.
THE MENTORING CONNECTION

The Mentoring Connection (TMC) is a web-based delivery system developed to offer business, government and non-profit organizations a comprehensive, effective and efficient means of establishing and operating formal mentoring programs and partnerships.

Through the use of sophisticated data management tools, TMC can streamline administrative and processing operations while maintaining the personal aspects so critical to effective mentoring programs while providing significant savings in staff costs.

MENTORING PROGRAMS WITHOUT THE HassLE

Whether you have an established mentoring program, or are just launching a new one, The Mentoring Connection can offer the following enhancements to your program:

- Quicker implementation of a formalized mentoring program.
  Mentors and mentorees apply to the mentoring program online by completing an application form that includes a biographical profile. TMC collects this important data to make selections, facilitate future matches and track the relationship after these matches have been made.

- Easier, more effective matching of mentors and mentorees.
  The success of a formal mentoring program is dependent upon a carefully orchestrated selection and matching process. There are a variety of ways to match participants. These methods range from formal matches by an outside committee/task force to a more informal one that encompasses one’s own mentoring philosophy. TMC assists organizations in matching mentors with mentorees by collecting vital information and then employing a dynamic scoring system to match mentorees with an appropriate mentor. Every effort is made to match mentorees with someone who can best support their developmental needs.

- Insightful self and 360 degree feedback.
  Most mentoring programs begin with developmental feedback. Confidential self and multi-rater feedback provides employees an opportunity to target developmental needs and goals and in turn develop effective learning plans. TMC supports two popular assessment tools: The Success Triangle (a multi-rater feedback system) and TTI Success Insights® (a DISC self-assessment).

- Less hands-on administration and processing.
  An online Mentoring Action Plan and Mentoring Agreement provides a roadmap for keeping partnerships on track and on target. The plans are based on an individual assessment of the mentorees’ needs and are supported by adequate resources and an active mentoring partnership. Program Coordinators can use this feature to forecast funding requirements as well as analyze the collective training needs of the mentoring group.

- Communication with Program Coordinators and other participants.
  An online forum for mentors, mentorees and Program Coordinators provides them the tool to stay connected through a threaded discussion style bulletin board.
Efficient online scheduling of mentoring activities.
An online calendar of events provides the Program Coordinator an opportunity to post upcoming events and developmental opportunities.

Program evaluations that keep you on top of progress and problems.
Continual evaluation of the development process is an integral part of a successful mentoring program. Consistent monitoring will ensure that pro-active adjustments are made to the program design to facilitate further success. Therefore, there are two critical checkpoints: six months after the program begins and at the conclusion. TMC provides an online evaluation process that collects information that clearly determines what aspects of the program are successful and what areas could benefit from a mid-course correction or adjustment.

More efficient collection and storage of data and resource materials.
TMC offers an online newsletter highlighting mentoring success stories and lessons learned. In addition, TMC has a Library where the Program Coordinator can post articles, workbooks, PowerPoint presentations and other key resource materials that offer mentoring tips and techniques.

Accessible, secure and complete privacy for all information.
TMC provides the infrastructure that includes hardware, software and data-encryption certification through VeriSign (to protect personal information). TMC has been verified to meet all U.S. Section 508 guidelines.

THE MENTORING CONNECTION PROGRAM SUPPORT
Each client is provided with program support from The Training Connection, Inc., to set up the website. This includes customizing application forms, matching forms, and program evaluations. It also includes training the Program Coordinator on the entire Mentoring Connection application from all user perspectives. The Training Connection, Inc. also provides on-going guidance and support to the Program Coordinator to facilitate partnership issues (such as gaining top level support, or closing down a partnership that is not working) along with supporting continuous improvement of program design.

THE MENTORING CONNECTION SYSTEM MODIFICATIONS
The Mentoring Connection (TMC) is a web-based delivery system developed to offer business, government, and non-profit organizations a comprehensive and efficient means of establishing and operating mentoring programs and partnerships. TMC assists organizations in identifying, matching, tracking, and evaluating mentoring partnerships. TMC also reduces up to 80% of the hands-on administration and processing normally required to run a formal mentoring program.

The Mentoring Connection is an off-the-shelf product. Any modifications to the current system will need to be re-designed, tested and transferred to the client’s application.
DYNAMIC MENTORING ORIENTATION

Mentoring is a time-honored tradition that has revolutionized the way people develop. Organizations worldwide are realizing the value of mentoring and are investing time, money and resources into facilitating successful developmental mentoring relationships. Why has mentoring made such a comeback? The answer is simple—it’s a valuable tool for developing a high performance workplace.

The Dynamic Mentoring Orientation teaches participants how to cultivate productive mentoring relationships and shows them why mentoring is an essential tool for career and professional development. In addition, participants will explore what to look for in a mentor/mentoree and learn how to clarify roles, responsibilities and expectations.

To identify and select a suitable match, mentorees and mentors are invited to participate in a networking event known as Speed Mentoring. Speed Mentoring is a fast-paced and powerful way to meet mentoring prospects and clarify mentoring goals and matching criteria.

INTRODUCTIONS AND ORIENTATION

- History of the program.
- Introduction of the coordinators.
- Introduction of participants.

CLARIFY ROLES AND EXPECTATIONS

- Define “dynamic” mentoring.
- Clarify the mentoring program goals and objectives.
- Explore the benefits of mentoring.
- Understand the roles, responsibilities of mentors, mentorees and supervisors.
- Explore the characteristics to look for in a mentor/mentoree.

SPEED MENTORING

- Introduction to the online mentoring matching process.
- Meet, mingle and network with the available pool of mentors.

MATERIALS

Participants will receive a customized handout package.
SPEED MENTORING FOR MENTORS/MENTOREES

INTRODUCTION
The mentoring matching process offers interested employees an opportunity to work with a mentor who can best support their developmental needs. To identify and select a suitable match, mentors and mentorees will be invited to participate in a networking event known as Speed Mentoring. Speed Mentoring is a fast-paced and powerful way to meet mentoring prospects and clarify mentoring goals and match competency criteria.

Although an informal mentoring connection between two people may naturally happen, formal mentoring relationships are built over time and include mutual trust and respect for differences. Designed to facilitate thought provoking conversations, the Speed Mentoring event will help participants get to know each other before committing to and finalizing a formal mentoring partnership.

OBJECTIVES
▪ Meet and network with others in the mentoring cohort.
▪ Meet mentors who possess the skills, traits and characteristics the mentorees hope to develop through mentoring.
▪ Identify and prioritize a short list of potential mentoring candidates.

MATERIALS
Participants will receive a customized handout package.
DYNAMIC MENTORING MATCHING PROCESS

INTRODUCTION

The potential for a successful mentoring program is based on careful recruiting and selection of mentors and mentorees. Using specific criteria developed in the strategic and action planning process, an in-house Program Coordinator will use The Mentoring Connection® software to recruit volunteers to participate as mentors and identify mentoree candidates.

Prior to the Dynamic Mentoring Connection training, The Training Connection, Inc. (TTC) will lead the Mentoring Program Coordinator through a facilitated matching process. Every effort will be made to match mentorees with mentors who can best support their developmental needs. In an attempt to recruit a suitable match, mentors and mentorees will be encouraged to recommend potential matches by:

- Reviewing profiles from a select pool of candidates.
- Participating in an orientation/networking workshop.
- Interviewing/meeting with other potential participants.

The goal is to empower participants to provide the initial screening process using objective criteria based on career and developmental goals. Individual choices will strongly be considered, but cannot be guaranteed. Under the direction of TTC, the Mentoring Program Coordinator will gather all information and make the appropriate match based on the mentor’s capability to support mentee needs. If at any point, either the mentor or the mentee feels that the match is inappropriate, they are encouraged to notify the Program Coordinator for a rematch.
DYNAMIC MENTORING CONNECTIONS

INTRODUCTION
Mentoring is a dynamic process designed to unleash the potential of employees. Built on mutual respect, trust and the sharing of ideas and experience, mentoring plays a critical role in career development. As organizations adapt to dynamic environments, traditional training methods may not keep pace with the complexity and diversity of today’s landscape. Those who cannot adapt and learn quickly will not prosper.

Dynamic Mentoring Connections is designed to build a legacy of knowledge throughout the organization. It moves the mentoring partnership from the informal to the formal and combines the key elements of relationship building with a well thought-out plan for individualized development.

Through personalized information generated from the TTI Success Insights® software, participants have the opportunity to immediately increase their knowledge of self and others. TTI Success Insights® reports clarify individual work styles, how styles effect job performance and how the mentor and mentoree can work together to build on strengths and overcome weaknesses.

BENEFITS

DYNAMIC MENTORING
- Creates a learning organization that continually adapts and improves its performance to meet the needs of demanding and informed customers.
- Improves communications, strategic planning, job satisfaction and cross-training.
- Provides employees with an opportunity to assess their potential and place themselves in roles where they can thrive.
- Fosters career, organizational and personal growth.

PRE-COURSE WORK
Each participant will receive a TTI Success Insights® assessment to be completed online 10 days prior to the Dynamic Mentoring Connections workshop.

Building Effective Mentoring Partnerships:
- Define “dynamic” mentoring and explore why mentoring is an essential tool for career and organizational development.
- Explore the difference between informal and formal mentoring.
- Discuss productive mentoring relationships and how to keep them on track.
- Learn how a person’s DISC behavioral style can help or hinder the connection between mentor and mentoree.
- Learn how to blend DISC behavioral styles for improved mentoring relationships.
Clarify Mentoring Roles And Responsibilities:

- Explore mentoring roles and responsibilities.
- Learn how to create developmental opportunities that grow and groom a seasoned workforce.
- Learn how to develop a Mentoring Action Plan based on the individual needs of the mentoree.
- Develop a mentoring agreement on the “logistics” of the mentoring process.

MATERIALS

Participants will receive practical, easy-to-use mentoring guides for use during the training program and for ongoing career counseling and career planning. Through personalized information generated from the TTI Success Insights® software, participants have the opportunity to immediately increase their knowledge of self and others. TTI Success Insights® reports clarify individual work styles, how styles effect job performance and how the mentor and mentoree can work together to build on strengths and overcome weaknesses.

THE SUCCESS TRIANGLE
Multi-Rater Feedback

INTRODUCTION

One of the things we all value in any interactive working situation is feedback. Good feedback is a gift. It can lessen stress, improve productivity and enhance your career. We all would benefit if we knew how our actions impact others, but for whatever reason, good feedback is hard to come by.

Traditionally, 95% of all feedback in the workplace comes from your supervisor. In today’s environment, many supervisors feel “unqualified” to give valuable feedback because they are not close to the employee on a day-in and day-out basis. Ideally, feedback about performance should be received on an ongoing, continuous basis so you can monitor and correct your own actions. With the move to self-directed teams, telecommuting and other workplace dynamics, the traditional supervisor may not be a reliable judge of an employee’s performance.

Feedback provided through The Success Triangle gives a more reliable source for your performance data. The Success Triangle provides a comprehensive view of your actions from a circle of contacts who are, in many cases, closer to the action.

The key issues concerning feedback are to keep it objective and beneficial. Feedback provided through The Success Triangle is intended to be for development only; it is a tool for increasing self-awareness. When participants know that feedback will not be used for appraisals, selections or promotions, a new and candid avenue for communication is opened for everyone involved. Information gained using The Success Triangle enhances confidence, is non-threatening and absolutely confidential.

THE SUCCESS TRIANGLE

The Success Triangle is based on the idea that more than one personal element is needed to be a well-rounded, successful individual. The Success Triangle measures specific skills and competencies in three key areas:

- Building Relationships - Demonstrating the ability to work effectively with others.
- Expertise - Mastering the specialized knowledge or skills that set you apart.
- Navigating the Organization - taking the responsibility to understand the organization, its culture and values—and making the effort to fit in.

We can all think of someone we have associated with who had superior technical ability or outstanding work habits. Some of these people are referred to as being “brilliant” or “talented.” But put them in a team environment and they are at a loss. They don’t understand the political ramifications of their actions. Without “people skills” and political savvy, talented and energetic individuals may find a rut in an organization instead of a niche. Often their attitude is: “I am what I am.” They see no need to change or to develop the skills needed to fit in and rely strictly upon their technical skills to get by (rather than getting along).

Participants will receive a 360/multi-rater assessment designed to identify developmental needs in 15 skill clusters. Each Success Triangle set includes nine surveys. One survey is completed by the employee, one is completed by his or her immediate supervisor, and the remaining seven surveys are completed by a combination of the participant’s superiors, peers and direct reports. The consultant will administer the assessment, track and collect the results for processing, and provide one-on-one confidential feedback sessions.
DYNAMIC MENTORING MID-POINT ENERGIZER

INTRODUCTION
Dynamic mentoring is a two-way learning process. The mid-point energizer has been carefully designed to give both mentorees and mentors a chance to reflect on their learning experiences. By bringing actions to a conscious level, participants are better able to understand the significance of their mentoring experiences and make quick adjustments if and when necessary.

In addition, TTC will coordinate the mid-point evaluation process by conducting needs assessments through personal interviews and written surveys evaluating the mentoring climate. A prepared written document upon completion will be submitted with observations, lessons learned and recommendations.

OBJECTIVES
Participants will explore the following:

WHAT’S WORKING?
▪ Define “dynamic” mentoring and the keys to mentoring success.
▪ Assess effectiveness in four main mentor/mentoree roles.
▪ Discuss productive mentoring relationships and how to keep on track.

LESSONS LEARNED
▪ Evaluate the time commitment, suitability of mentoring match and effectiveness of the developmental opportunities and plans.
▪ Surface and address problems or barriers.
▪ Give feedback on the overall mentoring program design.

NEXT STEPS AND ACTION PLAN
▪ Reaffirm original mentoring goals and refocus energy.
DYNAMIC MENTORING END OF PROGRAM REVIEW AND CELEBRATION!

INTRODUCTION
Dynamic Mentoring is a time-honored tradition that has revolutionized the way organizations are developing their people. Throughout history leaders have had the responsibility to pass along the wisdom of experience from one generation to the next. Dynamic Mentoring creates a non-threatening environment where information is shared and knowledge is transferred.

This session gives mentoring participants an opportunity to assess their personal and professional growth over the past year and explore the value mentoring played in their career and leadership development. What’s more, participants will discuss strategies for concluding their mentoring partnership. Closing down the partnership might feel a little awkward, yet it is vital to end the formal aspects of the relationship as deliberately as it began. This session, in itself, signals the ending of the “formal support” and provides a framework for exploring, leveraging and celebrating success. Participants will also give feedback on their progress, develop an action plan for the future and celebrate their success!

The Training Connection, Inc. will coordinate the end of program evaluation process by conducting written surveys and progress reviews. A prepared written document upon completion will be submitted with observations, lessons learned and recommendations.

OBJECTIVES
▪ Mining learning outcomes and lessons learned.
▪ Closing down the mentoring relationship.
▪ Celebrating success.

MATERIALS
Participants will receive a handout package as well as a mentoring journal.
MENTORING/LEARNING FORUMS

INTRODUCTION
A facilitator from TTC's expert cadre will offer participants an opportunity to develop new skills, enhance group dynamics and provide a forum to exchange ideas and current information. Topics include but are not limited to: Managing Change, Presenting with Style, Dealing with Difficult People, Customer Service, Political Savvy, Mentoring, Trust Based Leadership, The Role of a Supervisor in a Formal Mentoring Program, Emotional Intelligence, Time Management, etc.

MATERIALS
Participants will receive a handout package.
DISCOVERING THE MENTOR WITHIN
(1 Day Session)

INTRODUCTION
Organizations worldwide are realizing the value of mentoring. They are investing time, money and resources into creating cultures that embrace these important developmental relationships. Mentoring partnerships vary based on the developmental needs of the employee. These relationships can be content focused (sharing knowledge or teaching skills that may be needed) or process focused (creating an environment to shift thinking and develop new ideas and behaviors).

Discovering the Mentor Within explores the skills necessary to help employees seize learning opportunities in the midst of everyday events. Volunteer mentors will learn how to position themselves with a mix of coaching skills: diagnostic listening, strategic questioning, gap planning, wisdom sharing, and productive feedback. This foundational training serves as a basis for effective mentoring.

BENEFITS
▪ Creates a supportive environment to transfer knowledge from one individual to another.
▪ Enhances the culture of continuous learning and growth where people can live and work to their full potential.
▪ Offers mentors the personal satisfaction of “giving back” to the organization and passing along their legacy.

PRE-COURSE WORK
Each participant will receive a DISC assessment to be completed online 10 days prior to the Discovering the Mentor Within workshop.

MORNING SESSION
Building Strong Mentoring Relationships:
▪ Explore the difference between informal and formal mentoring.
▪ Discuss productive mentoring relationships and how to keep them on track.
▪ Respect and value the natural DISC behavioral styles of others and how to blend style for improved interpersonal relationships.

AFTERNOON SESSION
The Keys to Mentoring Success:
▪ Clarify the four key mentoring roles.
▪ Learn how to engage others in their own process of self-discovery.
▪ Build skills in diagnostic listening, strategic questioning, gap planning, sharing wisdom and productive feedback.
▪ Learn how and when to involve the supervisor in the mentoring process.
Designing Developmental Experiences:

- Help mentorees set learning goals, priorities and milestones.
- Discuss examples of developmental activities including: classroom courses, shadowing, developmental assignment or project, insightful feedback (self & 360), detail assignments/job rotations, networking, self-study and research.
- Learn how to develop a Mentoring Action Plan and a Mentoring Agreement based on the individual needs of the mentoree.

EXPERIENTIAL-BASED LEARNING SESSIONS

Discovering the Mentor Within is an experiential-based training program. Experiential learning offers participants an opportunity to learn by doing. Mentors will be asked to “contract” with another participant in the training program to be coached around a particular issue or skill that is relevant to them. This will ensure that 1) the skills they are learning are immediately reinforced by being put to use and 2) that they experience being on the “other side of the table,” which also enhances their ability to mentor.

MATERIALS

Participants will receive a Discovering the Mentor Within workbook for use during the training program and for on-going mentoring. Through personalized information generated from the TTI Success Insights® software, participants have the opportunity to immediately increase their knowledge of self and others. TTI Success Insights® reports clarify individual work styles, how those styles affect job performance and how the mentoring partnership can build on strengths and overcome weaknesses.

STRATEGIC CAREER MANAGEMENT (1 Day Session)

INTRODUCTION

Many individuals and organizations do not have a clear process for leadership development and career planning. Career paths are no longer predictable, customer expectations are increasing, technological changes continue to impact work processes, and individuals are unclear as to what is needed to keep pace and contribute meaningfully to the organization.

Organizations today need leaders who can identify their strengths and know how they relate to the strategic needs of the organization. While organizations can provide their employees with opportunities for education and growth, employees must commit their own time to planning and developing their skills. The Strategic Career Management Workshop can make this happen.

Strategic Career Management provides the framework and tools to help partnerships manage their professional and career development while increasing their contribution to the organization. With the unique perspectives and knowledge gained from this workshop, individuals will be able to develop their skills and align their performance to parallel the organization’s business strategy and future needs.

PRE-COURSE WORK

Each participant will receive a DISC assessment to be completed online 10 days prior to the Strategic Career Management workshop.

APPRECIATE UNIQUENESS AND CAPABILITY

- Assess unique strengths and contributions and learn how to best apply them.
- Understand capabilities and explore approaches for understanding and receiving feedback on reputation and performance.
- Build an effective work portfolio and target developmental needs.

ANTICIPATE THE FUTURE AND ALIGN ASPIRATIONS

- Understand the impact of current trends and strategies and prepare for organizational changes.
- Explore methods of uncovering jobs and projects that enhance and require mastery.
- Learn how to leverage reputation, build alliances and network.
- Develop a learning plan beyond the classroom.

MATERIALS

Each participant will receive a book entitled “Who’s Running Your Career” and Career Planning Insights© report. Through personalized information generated from the Career Planning Insights© software, participants have the opportunity to immediately increase their knowledge of self and others. DISC: TRAIN-THE-TRAINER

BACKGROUND
Your employees are the key to success in today’s competitive marketplace. But are they satisfied in their jobs and feeling a sense of accomplishment in the work they’re doing? Do they respect and value differences and know how to capitalize on the uniqueness of individuals?

Those aren’t just theoretical questions. The answers to those questions can make a significant difference to your organization’s bottom line. And now the answers to those questions are something you can affect.

DISC is a proven communication tool that helps employees interact more successfully. It helps managers and supervisors better understand both their employees and themselves. DISC is an objective system that helps build relationships, resolve conflicts and set realistic performance goals. It can help eliminate misunderstandings and build better coaching capabilities.

TRAIN-THE-TRAINER
As the federal sector continues to streamline their organizations, the role of the HRD professional is expanding! Charged with helping to build career resiliency, successful HRD professionals are aligning themselves with a variety of assessment tools that will enhance their capabilities and effectiveness. DISC: Train-the-Trainer will help participants establish credibility in the field of career and human resource development. Participants will become an advanced user of the DISC theory of behavioral management, TTI Success Insights® software and accompanying training materials.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
Participants will learn how to:

▪ Use the DISC behavioral assessment tool for personal and professional development.
▪ Establish a solid foundation for proper use of the DISC language.
▪ Examine DISC compatibility and blending techniques.
▪ Learn how to read and interpret the Successful Career Planning report.
▪ Apply DISC in career and leadership development.

PRACTICAL HANDS-ON EXPERIENCE
For more than a decade, Kathy Wentworth Drhosz has been using the DISC behavioral assessment tool to help organizations strengthen the connection between employee development and organizational effectiveness. As a Certified Professional Behavioral Analyst (CPBA), Kathy brings a wealth of experience helping trainers understand DISC and apply it in the work environment. Incorporating the latest research and practical hands-on experience, her DISC Train-the-Trainer program will help participants establish credibility in the field of organizational and human resource development.
MORE ABOUT THE DISC ASSESSMENT

DISC is the acronym for a theory of behavioral management first developed by the noted psychologist, Dr. William Marston more than 90 years ago. It is a descriptive system of behavior that serves as the foundation for the TTI Success Insights® software program.

DISC IS USER-FRIENDLY

DISC is a user-friendly approach to understanding and analyzing work behavioral styles. The basis of the DISC approach is a system for analyzing and describing the behavioral patterns each of us has developed. As individuals, we each react slightly different to a particular set of circumstances. Being able to understand those reactions, and to manage for the most effective behavior, has broad and significant implications for the work environment. The DISC name comes from the four factors that describe a person’s behavior:

- Dominance - how we approach problems and challenges
- Influence - how we interact with and influence others
- Steadiness - how we respond to change and to levels of activity
- Conforming - how we respond to rules and regulations

DISC GRAPH READING TECHNIQUES

The key to the DISC system is measuring the intensity a person brings to each of the four areas of behavior. The Dominance factor, for example, does not measure whether or not a person can solve problems, but rather measures how the person goes about solving problems. The position of each DISC factor provides useful behavioral information. Understanding that can provide real and beneficial insights for the employee, and can give coaches a more accurate foundation for providing feedback and suggesting developmental assignments and training opportunities.

DISC APPLICATION STRATEGIES

DISC is a flexible assessment tool that offers users a variety of options:

- Team Building: Explore how individual energies can be harnessed in pursuit of group goals.
- Mentoring: Help facilitate the chemistry between mentor and mentee.
- Career Development: Help employees assess their career strengths and weaknesses, as well as specific job targets that match their work style.
- Leadership Development: Help leaders clarify individual work styles, how styles affect job performance and how the employee-manager relationship affects productivity and goal achievement.

DISC VALIDITY

The DISC system of behavioral management has been successfully tested against every other major psychological instrument for measuring and analyzing human behavior. It is a system which delivers results, and, as the foundation for TTI Success Insights® software programs, it is a system that can have a strong, positive impact for your organization.

COMMUNICATING WITH STYLE

INTRODUCTION
Any successful team can be compared to a good orchestra. Individuals who bear little resemblance to each other often need to learn how to harmonize and respect the differences they bring to the team. Their diversity in style and substance, when properly harmonized, makes sweet music.

It is rather easy for a conductor to identify who plays what instrument. It is no less important for managers to know the behavioral or work styles of the individuals they manage and how they can best contribute to the organization.

Communicating with Style provides a model for equipping managers (and employees they manage) with the tools necessary for building and enhancing productive relationships. Through a series of individual and group activities, participants will explore strategies for interacting with others and become aware of different individual work styles.

BENEFITS
The ability to interact effectively with people may be the difference between success or failure in our work and personal life. Effective interaction begins with an accurate perception of oneself -- both strengths and weaknesses. Using personalized TTI Success Insights® reports, participants have the opportunity to immediately increase their knowledge of self and others. TTI Success Insights® clarifies individual work styles, how styles effect job performance and how the employee and manager can work together to build on strengths, overcome weaknesses and improve overall organizational effectiveness.

PRE-COURSE WORK
Each participant will complete an online TTI Success Insights® assessment 10 days prior to the workshop.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
▪ Learn to recognize and adapt to differences in communication styles.
▪ Reduce conflict and mistakes due to ineffective communications.
▪ Recognize the reactions of self and others under tension, stress or fatigue.

MATERIALS

BUILDING HIGH PERFORMING TEAMS

INTRODUCTION
A high performing team is not just a group of people who have learned to cooperate with each other. True teams have a shared sense of commitment, a high level of trust and effective leadership. As technologies and services in our society have become more equal, often the leading edge over the competition is how well organizations utilize their most valuable resource: their people. People are unique and must be managed, coached and supported in a way that capitalizes on their uniqueness. To be successful, leaders must focus the diverse skills and talents of all members of the team toward a common, compelling purpose or mission.

BENEFITS
Building High Performing Teams provides a model for equipping organizations with the tools necessary for building, motivating and leading high performing teams. The objective is to involve your employees in your mission; to make your vision their vision; and to unleash their experience toward your goals. Building High Performing Teams provides a process to link training and development to the organization’s mission, goals and objectives. Through personalized information received from the TTI Success Insights® software, employees have the opportunity to examine how their individual and collective skills have a significant impact on the mission.

OBJECTIVES
This one-day workshop provides a model for equipping organizations with the tools necessary for building, motivating and leading high performing teams.

The following highlights the objectives of each day:

BUILDING HIGH PERFORMANCE:
- Understand the characteristics of a winning team and high performance.
- Identify the benefits and critical success factors of teams.
- Explore barriers to team development.
- Identify paradigm shifts for high performance teams: management controlled vs. team empowered.
- Recognize the risks and rewards of the team process.

TEAM COMMUNICATION:
- Recognize differences in communication styles and how they may be used positively for the team.
- Establish open and honest communication channels.
- Encourage feedback and an open exchange of ideas.
- Actively listen to the view of others.
- Reduce conflict and mistakes due to ineffective communications.
- Mediate communication between conflicting parties.
TEAM DEVELOPMENT:

- Understand and appreciate the different phases of team forming and development.
- Create boundaries and team ground rules for effectively working together.
- Learn how to run effective team meetings.
- Develop team decision making and consensus building skills.
- Utilize conflict management skills to effectively manage and resolve conflict.
