We strive to provide access everywhere military and government healthcare professionals need us to be via online reference, mobile apps, desktop solutions (including CD-ROM), or clinical alerts and embedded links within EHRs or other clinical systems.

How we support government healthcare:

- No matter when, where, or how they access medical or dental drug information, clinicians can quickly reach relevant data
- Our publishing model is intended to deliver meaningful clinical alerts and clear, concise drug content, honing in on key information clinicians can quickly synthesize and apply to their decision-making process
- Setup, installation support, ongoing database updates, standard maintenance, training and customer support are all provided at no additional cost.
