Lee Hartman & Sons, Inc.

ABOUT LEE HARTMAN AND SONS, INC.

Lee Hartman & Sons, a family, and veteran-owned small business headquartered in Roanoke, VA, has been selling and performing service on sophisticated sound systems, televisions, and audiovisual equipment since 1936. Three generations of Hartmans work together, keeping abreast of developments in the electronics field and offering the latest technology coupled with unsurpassed service to their customers.

Lee Hartman & Sons employs 49 people at its Roanoke facility, four that are family members. Officers of the company include: Lee Hartman Jr., President; Jack L. Hartman, Vice-President; Steve Hartman, General Manager; and, Virginia Norcross, Assistant Treasurer. A strong field sales force complements the company's main staff. Its employees are long-term because, as part of its mission, Lee Hartman & Sons pledges to provide its employees with a good economic standard of living and an interesting and pleasant work environment. Lee Hartman & Sons understands the ever-increasing role that technology plays in the world today. It also understands that it is crucial that schools, businesses and government customers be able to use the latest in audio/visual equipment to meet their communication and production goals. That is why Lee Hartman & Sons plans to continue its long tradition of focusing on its expertise in providing the best and most economical solutions to its customer.

Lee Hartman Jr., president of Lee Hartman & Sons, explains "The secret to our success and continued growth is diversity. We are a general electronics system integration store, rather than a specialty supplier. We do not specialize in one particular product, but provide a wide array of the most innovative products for both home and business. We complement this horizontal growth with our depth of knowledge and service."

Comprehensive, individualized service sets Lee Hartman & Sons apart from its competitors. The sales and support staffs are highly trained to ascertain the individual needs of each customer and put together a system that meets each particular need. From concept to completion, Lee Hartman & Sons provides turnkey audio/visual systems to customer in the Virginia, Maryland and Washington, DC area.

Throughout these regions, Hartman's customer's span residential, commercial and government organizations, including hospitals, educational facilities, television stations, conference centers, resorts, military bases, government command centers and corporate boardrooms. Although the financial backbone of the company is realized in retail sales and sound system installation, it also maintains a strong presence in the audio/visual and rental arena, performing service for both residential and commercial customers.

Lee Hartman & Sons takes pride in providing the finest service and products designed to give the customer long term value. From cellular phones to plasma televisions, the company carries a complete line of products to match customer needs for quality, performance, and pride. In addition, Hartman provides a wide array of communication equipment, consumer and professional sound equipment, stage lighting and special effects, teleconferencing, consumer and professional computer equipment, audio and video duplication, conversion of foreign videotapes, and customer designed home theaters.

Lee Hartman & Sons offers a wide selection of audio visual equipment at its retail location in Roanoke, as well as an extensive catalog and detailed Website, which features monthly specials and detailed information on the latest products available to enhance corporate communications or home entertainment. A wide selection of its products from its extensive catalog is offered to government customers through this Federal Supply Schedule contract.

Whether you are planning a new or renovated boardroom, auditorium, training facility, conference room production area, broadcast room, theater or command and control center system, Lee Hartman & Sons can create an audio/visual system that will address specific requirements efficiently and cost-effectively. We design tailored solutions based on the specific needs of each customer. Lee Hartman & Sons not only installs the equipment, but also follows up to refine the system and offers on-going technical service and support.
