ABOUT LEE HARTMAN AND SONS, INC.

Lee Hartman & Sons, a family owned small business headquartered in Roanoke, VA, has been selling and performing service on sophisticated sound systems, televisions, and audiovisual equipment since 1936. The fourth generation of Hartman's work together, keeping abreast of developments in the electronics field and offering the latest technology coupled with unsurpassed service to their customers throughout the United States.

Lee Hartman & Sons employs over 70 people that span five Mid-Atlantic offices. Two of the five family members that work at the Roanoke facility, are Stephen M. Hartman, President and Robert L. Hartman, Vice President. A strong field sales force complements the company's main staff. Its employees are long-term because, as part of its mission, Lee Hartman & Sons pledges to provide its employees with a good economic standard of living and an interesting and pleasant work environment.

Stephen M. Hartman, President of Lee Hartman & Sons explains that the secret to our success and continued growth is diversity. We are a general electronics system integration store, rather than a specialty supplier. We do not specialize in one particular product, but provide a wide array of the most innovative products for both home and business. We complement this horizontal growth with our depth of knowledge and service.

Comprehensive, individualized service sets Lee Hartman & Sons apart from its competitors. We understand how important innovation and technology are in our environment today. We want to assure that our audio-visual solutions meet the creative, technical and financial needs of our clients. We work with corporate, higher education, medical, healthcare, residential, government, military and houses of worship clients.

Although the financial backbone of the company is realized in retail sales and sound system installation, we also maintain a strong presence in the rental and events services arena, performing service for both residential and commercial customers.

Lee Hartman & Sons takes pride in providing the finest service and products designed to give the customer long term value. Our experienced sales staff members will analyze your needs in order to develop your technology goals from start to finish. From cameras to LED televisions, the company carries a complete line of products to match customer needs for quality, performance, and pride. In addition, Lee Hartman & Sons provides a wide array of communication equipment, consumer and professional sound equipment, stage lighting and special effects, teleconferencing, consumer and professional computer equipment, audio and video duplication, conversion of foreign videotapes, and customer designed home theaters. At Lee Hartman & Sons we strive to stay on the cutting edge of today's technology, offering the latest in electronics, audio, lighting, video and décor.

Lee Hartman & Sons has skilled engineers and system designers who will work with you to increase the functionality of your space. We offer demonstrations of the latest technology at your facility to enhance your understanding of available options to aid you in choosing the best business solutions.

Lee Hartman & Sons offers a wide selection of audio visual equipment at its retail location in Roanoke, as well as an extensive catalog and detailed Website, which features monthly specials and detailed information on the latest products available to enhance corporate communications or home entertainment. A wide selection of its products from its extensive catalog is offered to government customers through this Federal Supply Schedule contract.

Lee Hartman & Sons understands the ever increasing role that technology plays in the world today. It also understands that it is crucial that customers be able to use the latest in audio visual equipment to meet their communication and production goals. That is why Lee Hartman & Sons plans to continue its long tradition of focusing on its expertise in providing the best and most economical solutions to its customers. Lee Hartman & Sons not only installs the equipment, but also follows up to refine the system and offers on-going technical service and support.
