

WHY GRAYMILLS?

Why us? Because we've put a lot into these "Made in America" parts washers. Graymills manufactures in our own 90,000 sq. ft. plant, centrally located in Chicago. Our own engineers design the equipment we make, and our Chicago-based, experienced Customer Service department is on hand to answer any question you have and respond quickly to your needs.

Graymills engineers have stayed on top of the most current and effective technology to provide excellent cleaning products. All but the smallest of our solvent cleaners comply with the Clean Air Act, through high freeboard ratios to aid in solvent retention. We also have a line of Bioremediating Parts Washers that solve waste disposal problems right in the units. See our Biomatic line of cleaners. And our line of aqueous and turbo action washers are some of the best machines you will find.

Graymills, serving American manufacturing since 1939.
