Corporate Overview

Metropolitan Interpreters and Translators, Inc. is a veteran owned, large business that supports the law enforcement community with linguistic services and the requisite management expertise. Metropolitan has eight strategic locations from which we support our clients, our headquarters in New York, and our branch offices in Miami, Florida, Washington DC, San Diego, California, Los Angeles, California, Atlanta, Georgia and Long Island, New York. From all eight locations we offer the following services:

- Project Management
- English Transcription
- Document Translation
- Call Isolation & Duplication
- Audio / Video Enhancement
- Audio Transcription / Translation
- Title III Wiretap Staffing and Wire Room Management
- Classified Linguists for Interpretation and Monitoring
- On Site Consecutive and Simultaneous Interpreters

Established in 1990, Metropolitan is the single largest provider of translation and interpretation services to the United States Department of Justice (DOJ). We continue to maintain long standing contracts with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) while establishing new contract opportunities under the Department of Homeland Security (DHS).

With over 400 linguists working within secure government facilities nationwide, we have developed a management plan that consistently ensures a quality service with exceptional results for our government clients. Our linguists are trained to analyze and translate source material related to organized crime, street gangs, drug trafficking, money laundering, terrorism, firearms, explosives, human trafficking, kidnapping and the counterfeiting of currency and goods.

Since our inception, Metropolitan has grown and adapted to threats and issues facing the law enforcement and intelligence community. Our multiple locations afford us great opportunities to draw upon the vast, ethnic communities here in the United States, to obtain native speakers with the ability to understand the colloquialisms and slang commonly used in these types of investigations.

Our recruitment and processing methods are proven and precise, allowing us to recruit lawful members of a particular ethnic community while preserving the integrity of any ongoing or forecasted investigation within that community. In addition, our standard recruiting and vetting practices and procedures lend themselves well to processing linguists for security clearances for both Secret and Top Secret classifications, when required.

General Translation Services

Metropolitan understands the importance of providing reliable, high quality service at a reasonable and competitive price, thus offering the government the best overall value for their contracting dollar.

With a staff of full-time translators, Metropolitan provides document translation services from and to over 100 foreign languages for both government and private clients. We translate:

- > Manuals
- > Medical Records
- > Books
- > Insurance claims
- > Websites
- > Training Materials
- > Legal documents
- > General correspondence
- > Technical data

Our translators are accredited, native speaking professionals, with the language skills that meet our strict standards. To assist our linguists, all locations maintain extensive onsite reference libraries with specialized dictionaries and reference books in a variety of topics and languages.

To ensure confidentiality and to protect information, all Metropolitan locations are linked together via secure intranet that utilizes high-speed network servers to transfer data between locations. This allows us to direct translation projects to the office that has the translation team best suited for the project.

Translation Services for Law Enforcement

Since 1990, Metropolitan has recruited, evaluated, vetted and trained over 1000 linguists in support of wiretap and intelligence services for law enforcement agencies throughout the United States. Through consistent recruitment and dedicated program management, Metropolitan has been able to minimize agency Temporary Duty (TDY) assignments and overtime, while meeting agency requirements. Our transcription/translation centers have hosted hundreds of cases, some of which have been high profile. In all cases, the work performed by Metropolitan has aided the government in securing a successful outcome while always preserving the integrity of the investigation

Foreign Language Linguists and Analytic Services

One of the most requested services under the law enforcement category is providing Monitors/Linguists and Analytic Services in support of Title III (wiretap) investigations. Metropolitan is a leader in this field with a full time staff of DEA, DHS and FBI cleared linguists in over sixty different languages, available to deploy on twenty-four hours notice.

We recruit, hire and train only native speakers with knowledge of colloquial expressions and regional slang. This offers the law enforcement agency the added advantage of understanding the culture and unique regionalisms that often are a key ingredient in any foreign language investigation.

Our transcription centers can be configured to accommodate the individual confidentiality of multiple cases with each transcriber/translator working in their own enclosed workstation. Each employee is assigned a unique access ID for the network, only allowing them to access their own working directory. Each workstation is connected via a closed network, which restricts any file from being copied onto a disk or emailed outside the center by any of the translators. Supervisors access individual employee directories at any time to monitor the employee's production and remove the file at the completion of work and send it to Quality Assurance and then onto the client.

Our Miami, San Diego, Los Angeles, and Atlanta centers were built to the same security standards as our New York office, and they follow the same security procedures. The offices have individual transcription/translation stations, and, in addition, have a secure room within the transcription/translation center that can isolate a group of transcribers/translators for a sensitive project.

All locations have onsite Mosler safes to store the source material. Only supervisors at these locations can open these safes, which are monitored by video at all times.

Document Translation Services

Document translation services for law enforcement agencies require that the translators not only be native speaking professionals who meet our strict language accreditation standards, but must also satisfy the security clearance requirements of the United States Department of Justice and/or the Department of Homeland Security.

All of our staff translators have been cleared by the DEA, DHS or the FBI to do work at our offices or within the government's secure space. The flexibility of our translators to work at the government site when requested is important, since often the material to be translated may not be removed from the site.

Metropolitan not only supports these projects with the translators, but very often can provide the specialized dictionaries, reference material and other tools necessary to ensure the best possible translation for the client. Some items that Metropolitan can provide translations for are:

- > Banking/finance reports and statements
- > Court affidavits/jail records
- > Police reports/investigation reports
- > Officer training materials
- > General correspondence
- > Sales and marketing material
- > Contracts, agreements and property deeds
- > Bills of sale/shipping records
- > Electronic Data (emails, text messages, social media posts, etc.)
- > Manuals

Metropolitan also employs part-time translators to supplement our permanent staff when the task allows. These translators are held to the same language accreditation standards as our full-time employees and, when requested, must adhere to the same security procedures which, at a minimum, require the translator to sign a non-disclosure agreement to ensure the clients' confidentiality at all times.

General Interpretation Services

On a daily basis, Metropolitan provides consecutive and simultaneous interpreters to federal agencies as well as private corporations. Our interpreters assist in meetings, conventions, legal proceedings, criminal investigations and the general day-to-day operation of our government. We also provide consecutive and simultaneous interpreters to the television and web-based news networks for live broadcasts, interviews and news relay.

The task of interpretation has varied requirements and skill levels depending on the assignment. At a minimum, Metropolitan requires that all interpreters have the ability to speak the language with sufficient structural accuracy and vocabulary to participate effectively in most formal and informal conversations on practical, social and professional topics.

More experienced and seasoned interpreters are required to demonstrate a skill level of conversation equal to a highly articulate well-educated native speaker, which reflects the cultural standards of the country where the language is natively spoken. Many of Metropolitan's interpreters are also state and/or federally court certified, State Department Certified, DLI certified or UN accredited and/or are accredited members of professional interpretation associations such as The American Association of Language Specialist (TAALS), National Association of Judicial Interpreters (NAJIT) and the Association International des Interprètes de Conférence (AIIC).

To ensure that our interpreters meet our skill requirements and our clients' standards, Metropolitan utilizes an oral proficiency exam administered by an independent testing company, ALTA Language Testing. ALTA is an approved testing company for the U.S. Department of Justice as well as other federal agencies. Metropolitan has been utilizing ALTA as their primary testing company in all languages for the past 12 years.

Metropolitan is a corporate member of the National Association of Judicial Interpreters (NAJIT) and complies with all rules, regulations and standards set by the International Association of Conference Interpreters (AIIC). Metropolitan utilizes high quality brand conference equipment and, upon request, can provide equipment for groups of 10 to 1000 in up to twenty languages simultaneously. We offer wireless headsets and the secure hard-wired delegate units along with our custom designed soundproof interpretation booths.

Metropolitan can provide any consulting and planning assistance to the requesting government agency as is often required when dealing with simultaneous interpreters and conference equipment.

Interpretation Services for Law Enforcement

Metropolitan offers a customized consecutive interpretation program for law enforcement and prosecuting agencies in need of this service on a regular basis. For example, some United States Attorney's offices require consecutive interpreters on a daily basis in about five or six different languages, usually on short notice.

These interpreters assist with one-on-one meetings between the government and the defendants or cooperating witnesses/confidential sources. Upon meeting with the law enforcement or prosecuting agency, Metropolitan will ascertain the interpretation needs and set up a program that offers a Rapid Response to needs of that client.

For example, Metropolitan arranged a meeting with the offices in need of the service and analyzed their interpretation needs. After that meeting, we selected the interpreters best suited for that project and set up a schedule where the interpreter checks in with their Metropolitan representative every two hours during the business day to secure his/her next assignment.

This allows Metropolitan to offer our client a Rapid Response in those high demand languages on short notice. It also offers the client a pool of interpreters familiar with the procedures and needs of that client while offering the actual user of the service a familiar face to work with.

Additionally, Metropolitan has designed systems and procedures that first notify the person on call that an interpreter has been requested by a client and what the estimated cost of that service will be. This is vital in a multi-user environment where requests for services are made with a certain amount of urgency.

One of our representatives will be glad to set up a meeting to access your interpretation needs and show you how Metropolitan can assist your organization under our GSA schedule.

In addition, our standard recruiting and vetting practices and procedures lend themselves well to processing linguists for security clearances for both Secret and Top Secret classifications when required.

Comprehensive Linguistic Analytical Support Services (CLASS)

In addition to the general Metropolitan support for law enforcement agencies as discussed under SINs 382-1 and 382-2 above, Metropolitan is able to provide federal agencies with security cleared linguists and analytic linguists under SIN 832-4 and 832-4RC, “Classified Linguists for Interpretation and Monitoring”.

After adding security-cleared linguists and analytic linguists to our service offerings, Metropolitan has been able to offer complete and comprehensive language services in support of local, national, or global requirements that support the missions of military, law enforcement, homeland and national security organizations, among others. Services include but are not limited to: collecting, translating/interpreting and delivering mission related data, performing data analysis, cultural consulting, role-playing, Title III monitoring and intercepts, interview support, preparing related reports and assessments, forensic processing, screening/gisting, related project/program management and control for linguist screening and recruitment, logistical coordination, and site supervision and quality control of all related services.

In addition to these basic linguist services, Analytic Linguists services provide the ability to:

- >Methodically examine in detail the intercepted information in order to uncover the true meaning by deciphering any codes used in communication by drug traffickers to describe drugs, weapons, associates, activities, and law enforcement in attempts to defeat intercept surveillance.
- >Process incoming data to determine the relationships between multiple targets, as well as determine the structure of Drug Trafficking Organizations (DTO).
- >Utilize data to determine the significance and hierarchy of targets involved.
- >Cross reference current and past intelligence data to establish target patterns and connectivity with on-going intercepts.
- >Create and utilize target and involvement lists and associational charts for use in cross referencing of information.

>Perform deconfliction analysis to eliminate duplication of target designations during ongoing intercept investigations where targets may utilize multiple devices and names.

Linguists cleared for government sensitive materials and linguists with security clearances equal to Secret and/or Top Secret are offered relative to the above mentioned translation related services. Metropolitan's services provided under this SIN include communication from a source language to a target language.

Quality Assurance/Confidentiality

As a service dealing primarily with law enforcement agencies, Metropolitan is required to produce a finished product that is used as exhibits or evidence in criminal proceedings. Whether for the DEA, FBI, DHS or the U.S. Attorney's Office, our linguists and the translations they produce have been tried, tested and successfully accepted by the courts for over 19 years.

Additionally, since all of Metropolitan's facilities are secure and our staff translators hold a valid security clearance from the U.S. Department of Justice, we are well trained in safeguarding information and security. Translators only have access to information related to the project they are working on. No matter who the client is, Metropolitan has many quality assurance steps in place to ensure the highest quality product is provided to the Government. We start with the Project Managers.

A Project Manager is assigned to every ongoing project that Metropolitan is working on. This Project Manager is in control of the translation project from the start of the job until the completion of all the tasks.

The Project Manager is responsible for putting together the glossary and any other reference material the translators may need. The Project Manager assists, checks and validates all the work produced by the translation team working on that project. He or she is also responsible for ensuring that the project is on time and within the cost estimate.

Project Managers report directly to our Translation Center Operations Manager (T-COM) who holds daily meetings with the Project Managers to assess production levels, costs, quality assurance and deadlines of each ongoing project. The Operations Manager will access the status of the project and convey any new information, updates or changes from the client to the Project Managers and the translation team when necessary.

Before returning the project to the client, the T-COM will assign a proofreader/editor to the finished project for one last quality assurance check. As a final step, the T-COM reviews all finished products and ensures that all original material is returned to the client and any waste material is properly destroyed.

Rapid Response Team

Emergency situations often arise whether in law enforcement or in other areas of the government. Metropolitan is prepared to assist you with those situations when they arise. Metropolitan offers assistance on demand:

Any LanguageAnywhereAnytime

Our linguistic services can be customized to meet the specific needs of your agency or field office, twenty-four hours a day. Our ability to satisfy the ever-changing needs of law enforcement and the private sector has made us a leader and innovator in the industry.
