Can only Federal agencies use the GSA Schedules?

No! Federal, state and local government agencies may use GSA schedules to purchase services.

May I use a credit card to purchase products and services under this program?

ATA accepts any government-issued credit cards for orders, up to the micro-purchase threshold. In some cases, we may also accept credit cards for orders exceeding the micro-purchase threshold, depending on the circumstances.

My organization received a grant from a state or local government. Can we use it to purchase services from ATA through the GSA Schedule?

Although currently only federal, state, and local government agencies may use GSA schedules to purchase services, under a proposed cooperative purchasing approach, nongovernmental entities would gain access to the same goods and services.
