- 15) Warranty Provision: ATI warrants all ATI Equipment sold hereunder to be free from defects in material and workmanship in normal service and under normal conditions for one year from date of invoice, and to conform to its standard specifications at the time of order. If applicable, ATI warrants that the Software obtained hereunder will conform to ATI specifications at the time that Customer receives such Software. This warranty is void as to ATI Equipment located outside of the United States of America. Should a unit of ATI Equipment fail in normal service and under normal conditions through no fault of the Customer during the warranty period, because of a defect in material or workmanship covered by the foregoing warranty, Customer shall return the failed unit at Customer's expense to ATI's Point of Origin facility. ATI shall either repair the unit at the factory or furnish a new or refurbished replacement unit for the Customer. No charges shall be made for repair or replacement of ATI Equipment covered by the foregoing warranty, except Customer shall pay ATI's standard handling charges upon return of a non-defective unit. Customer shall connect and adjust the unit in accordance with accompanying instructions. Each repaired or replacement unit of ATI Equipment is warranted (as set forth above) for sixty (60) days or the remaining portion of the original ATI Equipment's warranty, whichever is longer. Customer will have the right to approve prior to repairs being made any then standard time and material charges for repairs made outside of those covered by the Warranty. For the duration of the applicable warranty period, any nonconformance of Software to the ATI specifications must be reported to ATI in writing by Customer. ATI shall then provide an analysis of the problem and use commercially reasonable efforts to provide a workable solution. Customer will have the right to approve prior to analysis being made any then current programming charges for analysis and efforts to obtain workable solutions provided outside of those covered by the Warranty. Customer agrees that it will in no event alter, modify, repair, disassemble, or adjust the ATI Equipment or Software obtained hereby, except in accordance with ATI's specific instructions. ATI's obligation hereunder is contingent upon proper storage, installation, use, and maintenance and is limited to: (1) repair, or at its option, replacement (as described herein above) of any parts or ATI Equipment when it determines that they do not conform to the Warranty; (2) analysis of and provision of commercially reasonable efforts to provide a workable solution to Software problems when ATI determines that the Software does not conform to ATI standards.
